COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF SEQUOIA HI SCHOOL PRESENTED MANY TOUCHING SCENES

Masonic hall was crowded to capacity last Saturday evening with parents and others who had come to enjoy the twenty-fourth annual commencement exercises of Sequoia Union High School.

The graduating class was the largest in the history of the institution, eighteen young women and ten young men. Five of these will attend Stanford, two to the University of California, one Mills College, four will enter the State Normal school at San Jose, three will go to the agricultural school at Oregon, two will become professional nurses and the others are to engage in business.

Miss Ruth Weller gave the salutatory. She displayed cleverness in her recital. The young lady took occasion to speak feelingly of the affection the graduates had for the retiring principal, S. P. McCrea who had carved out a career of sixteen years as principal of the school. Miss Weller was heartily applauded as she finished her able address.

"Is the Cause Worth the Sacrifice," was the title of an oration by Miss Lyda Lampkin. She handled the subject cleverly showing much oratorical ability. Her clean cut phrases won her a big applause as she completed her task.

The valedictorian of the class of 1921 was Miss Mercedes Pearce. This honor was bestowed upon her on account of her high standing in the class. The young lady delivered a most eloquent address that was given deserved applause.

The audience enjoyed a half-hour of folk, college and Southern songs by the Boys' Chorus of Sequoia, given at the beginning of the program, Professor O. M. Carrington leading, Miss Ruth Weller accompanying and later in the evening, the Girls' Treble Clef rendered several selections. A pleasing feature of the program was a violin solo by Donald McKee, '23.

Professor S. P. McCrea presented the diplomas to the graduates taking the occasion to give the young men and women some timely advice. In bidding them good bye he showed much feeling and emotion.

Stephen Kreiss, president of the student body in a neat speech presented Mr. McCrea with a valuable victrola. The gift of the faculty was an order for fifty dollars worth of records.

In bidding farewell to the students and people of Redwood City Professor McCrea spoke in eloquent terms of the loyalty of his teachers and the co-operation he had at all times received from the people. He urged the people to take a deeper interest in the affairs of the school. He displayed much feeling in speaking of the affection he had cherished for the past and present pupils of Sequoia Union High School. He also asked the people of the district to co-operate in every way possible with the new principal and aid him in carrying on the work for the betterment and advancement of the school.

When McCrea had finished his able address Mr. Henry Beeger in a well phrased address presented the retiring principal on behalf of the Sequoia Alumni Association with a purse of $200, a gift from among the graduates from 1906 to 1921. Mr. Beeger spoke as follows:

"Mr. McCrea, I have been extended the privilege this evening of saying a few words to you on behalf of the alumni who have had the honor and pleasure of graduating from Sequoia Union High School during your efficient term of office as principal.

"Although I am incapable of expressing the many fine things that can be said of you as a principal and a man, I consider it the highest honor that could be bestowed upon a member of the Alumni Association to be asked to say a few parting words to you on severing your official connection with Sequoia high school—I say in severing your connection—but technically this is impossible, as the high ideals and teachings which you have installed in the minds of the graduates of Sequoia Union High School will be reflected in the life of the community for generations to come.

"Your sincere devotion to duty and the inspiring example you have set as alumni a teacher and a citizen and the results of what you have accomplished duing your sixteen years as principal of Sequoia are landmarks which time cannot efface.

"Mr. McCrea, it is with a great deal of regret that I say good-bye to you this evening in behalf of the Alumni Association, but I assure you that our appreciation and friendship will never be forgotten. Now that you are about to leave us and seek other fields, we know that your mind will be taken up with other matters of importance, and, although we know you will not forget a single one of the many hundred students who have graduated under your guidance, we wish to present to you this evening a small token of remembrance in appreciation of your faithful service to Sequoia.

"Mr. McCrea, nothing we could give could ever repay you for the good you have done for us, and so I trust that in future years, you will look back and see the faces of your graduates reflected in this small token—emblematical of the everlasting friendships you have formed.

"Mr. and Mrs. McCrea, whatever your future undertakings may be, we wish you the greatest success, and the fond thoughts of Sequoia Alumni will always be with you."

Neal McGettigan, president of the graduating class, announced that the gift of the class was an order for books for the school library.

The exercises closed with the announcement by Prof. McCrea of the following medal awards:

L. P. Behrens' scholarship, Miss Mercedes Pearce, '21; Geo. C. Ross', debating, Miss Nyda Lampkin, '21; D. W. Williams, Athletics, Jack Parson, '23.

WILLIAM HENRY KINNE DIED SUDDENLY SATURDAY EVENING

The passing away of William Henry Kinne removes a man from this vale of tears who was a prominent figure in the political forum of San Mateo county 30 years ago, a man who was a leader of the republican party in those by-gone days. The "Sand Hills" in those days was the bone of contention between both political parties and Mr. Kinne could always be relied upon to carry them for his party. That country is now known as Daly City, Colma and surrounding section.

Mr. Kinne saw the light of day at Nova Scotia in 1836 and as a sturdy lad of 23 he came to California. He formed a partnership with John Daly in the milk business. They soon bought a large tract of land where Daly City is now located and for years the two conducted a thriving business. They became wealthy. Both had political aspirations. Both were ambitious. Daly sought to be assessor of San Francisco and was twice defeated for the place. His partner was more successful.

In 1886 Mr. Kinne sought the office of sheriff of San Mateo county. That position was then held by a sturdy, handsome young democrat, J. H. Hatch, known as "Harry," hailing from Halfmoon Bay. He had many friends, was genial and certainly a bad man for anyone to measure swords with. However Kinne tackled the situation and receiving the nomination from his party went forth to battle. He was then a strapping young and handsome man who made friends rapidly.

It was the liveliest campaign in the history of the county. On the eve of election Nathan C. Carnell, the editor of the Democrat, sprang a surprise by announcing that Kinne was never naturalized. Circulars setting forth that fact were distributed all over the county. Kinne's friends showed by long articles in the Times-Gazette that the charge was false and that the eleventh hour story was made to catch votes.

On November 2, 1886 the election took place with the result that W. H. Kinne defeated J. H. Hatch by just 37 votes. It was believed at the time that had not Carnell, Hatch's manager, sprung the story Hatch would have defeated Kinne. The sympathy of the voter went to Kinne when the false accusation was made. On the ballot that year with Kinne were many notable men, nearly all of whom have passed to the other side.

Charles N. Felton was the republican candidate for congress against Frank J. Sullivan. Felton carried the county by 215 votes. W. Z. Price defeated Percy Selby for the assembly by 205 votes, James D. Byrnes defeated R. Y. Hayne for state senator by 348 votes. E. Elkerenkotter was elected county clerk over J. W. Bickneli by a majority of 286.

Kinne in taking office appointed the late John Edgar, afterwards warden at San Quentin his deputy.

In the election of 1888 Kinne was again pitted against Hatch. The latter had lost some of his popularity and Kinne was again chosen sheriff by a majority of 194 votes.

This year the late Timothy Guy Phelps ran for congress against Thomas J. Clunie. Phelps carried the county by 246 votes but was defeated in the district by Clunie. That year J.D. Byrnes defeated Jesse Cope of Santa Cruz for the state senate by 573 votes in this county. The late Louis Frank received a majority of seven votes over W. Z. Price for the assembly.

In the election of 1890 Kinne was again elected sheriff by defeating John Solen by 327 votes. That year the late George Fox defeated W. G. Witter by 30 votes for district attorney.

John F. Ford lost the county clerk and recorder's office that year by 327 votes, J. F. Johnston being the successful candidate. Alexander Gordon defeated R. S. Thornton for the assembly by 145 votes, E. F. Loud defeated Thomas J. Clunie for congress by 60 votes.

The exciting election of 1892 proved to be a Waterloo for Mr. Kinne. That year a stalwart democrat in the person of William P. McEvoy appeared on the political arena. He was young, popular and genial. Mr. Kinne did not want to enter the campaign but was forced into the contest by party leaders. Mr. Kinne had opposition in the republican party. A stalwart young republican, Lucas Greer of Woodside made a wonderful campaign throughout the county on a handsome white horse. For some reason never explained Greer withdrew his name from the convention and Kinne was declared the nominee of the republican party. It was a bitter campaign. Kinne went down to defeat, having been beaten by 501 votes. It was said at that time that Greer would have defeated McEvoy had he secured the republican nomination.

That year James T. O'Keefe was elected assemblyman, defeating Jos. F. Coffey by 90 votes, J. F. Johnston defeated F. W. Dobbie by 22 votes. Bart Burke was elected senator over Henry F. Kron by 128 votes.

Mr. Kinne subsequently campaigned for supervisor of the Third township in a three corner fight in which himself, Louis Frank and P. H. McEvoy contended. The latter was elected. This was Mr. Kinne's last appearance in politics.

Mr. Kinne was a genial gentleman, honest and square in politics, was a kind kearted man, beloved by his associates. His passing is mourned by hundreds who knew him in the days of his political power and in the days of his inactivities in political life. Few men had more friends in the county than Mr. Kinne. All who knew him loved him for his splendid qualities of mind and heart.

Mr. Kinne died suddenly. He and his wife attended the commencement exercises of the high school Saturday evening. The couple returned home at about 10:30 o'clock when Mr. Kinne was stricken. He expired in a few minutes and before medical aid arrived.

The funeral on Tuesday afternoon was largely attended by relatives, friends and acquaintances from all sections of the county. The remains were removed from his home on Phelps street to Odd Fellows' hall where the ritualistic services of the Odd Fellows were conducted by Bay View Lodge.

Rev. C. H. Stevens of the First Congregational church of this city spoke feelingly over the remains of the dead man. In eloquent words he portrayed the pure and unselfish life of the deceased and gave comfort to the bereaved wife and relatives. The eulogy was beautiful and feelingly delivered by Rev. Stevens.

Intermen followed the services in Cypress Lawn cemetery. The following friends of the family acted as pallbearers: P. P. Chamberlain, J. J. Shields, M. Sheehan, Asa Hull, D. P. Flynn and Henry Steinberger.

He was a member of Bay View Lodge, No. 109, I. O. O. F., Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge and the Knights of Pythias.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE ENJOYABLE EVENING

Redwood City Council, Boy Scouts of America held an important meeting Wednesday evening. Besides all of the Scouts a number of parents and friends were present. Jack Kellogg was the presiding officer and introduced the different events. The program was started by a tug-of-war. Two boxing contests followed. The first was between Hubert Roussel and Alphonsius Mathies. The second was between Meredith Eva and Victor Torres. Frank McAuliffe gave an interesting talk on wireless telegraphy and invited the guests to the Scout room Saturday morning to get the returns of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight.

Father Kennedy presented several merit badges. Mr. Jas. Hedge then presented Scout Meredith Eva a life saving medal for having saved a young man from drowning in Emerald Lake last October. This is the first life saving medal ever presented to a Scout in San Mateo county.

Mr. S. P. McCrea followed and gave some interesting experiences. Dr. Herbert Stolz, Commissioner of Physical Education for the State of California talked of his experience on the firing line in France and explained the necessity of living a good, clean life and building a strong vigorous body.

Mr. Griffin, the Scout Master, told of the plans of the summer camp and urged the parents to send their boys on the outing.

The meeting was then closed and refreshments were served.

The Boy Scouts will leave tomorrow for Pescadero to take part in the Fourth of July celebration.

OLD-FASHIONED CELEBRATION AT PESCADERO ON THE 4th

There will be only one old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration in the county next Monday and that will be at Pescadero.

The Fourth of July celebration in Redwood City years ago was a big event. It was looked forward to with intense interest. The spread eagle oration by some budding young lawyer was listened to with interest. The "horribles" that followed was exciting and the fireworks was nerve wrecking. For months the citizens were kept busy preparing for the great event. These celebrations are now only recalled reminescently. They will be no more. The advent of the automobile has changed affairs. Now people seek sequested glenns close to nature in some far off wonderland in their automobiles where they may enjoy nature in all its glory. They get away from the turmoil and noise of the city for a few daws to enjoy the shades of the country. Perhaps after all this is the way God intended that the great day should be spent.

These two sales aggergated over $20,000. The property on the corner of Stratford street and Edgewood road was recently sold by them to a San Francisco investor, and in return resold by Lambert and Walter to a purchaser who has commenced the erection of a new home on the property, 60 feet frontage gy over 200 feet in depth, adjoining the beautiful home of John P. Weller of the Bank of Italy, was sold to W. L. Meussdorffer of San Carlos, who will shortly erect a new home. For a non-resident owner they sold corner of El Camino Real and Jackson street to a client of the office. On Hopkins street, they sold a bungalow for the account of S. Betz to A. E. Stumpf. The firm's Burlingame office did as well, having sold a number of homes and lots to various purchasers.

The greater portion of her life had been spent in San Francisco and Redwood City. Mrs. Einstein was a woman of high ideals, gentle and charming in her manner and loved by her neighbors and had a wide circle of friends.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from Odd Fellows' hall where services were held under the auspices of the Eastern Star, Sequoia Chapter. Interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery, Colma. The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Florence Watson of San Mateo and Miss Pauline Einsten of this city.

MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

"Men without a country," who owe allegiance to no government and who in return may call upon none for protection or asylum, abound in scarcely believable numbers throughout foreign lands. War and post-war conditions have added greatly to this number.

European embassies, legations and consulates are visited daily by scores of these international wanderers. Most of them visit American officials abroad for purposes other than to determine their citizenship status, and learn with dismay or indifference that they are no longer entitled to recognition as citizens of the United States or as subjects of any other country.

Most of those who have forfeited their rights to recognition as American citizens have lost their nationality through carelessness. Failure to keep their papers in order, to register at American embassies, legations or consulates, and to make proper declarations to overcome the presumption of expatriation, has placed many a person in the category of those without a country. This is especially true of naturalized Americans who go abroad.

THE DUMBARTON BRIDGE MAY BE A REALITY

The Dumbarton bridge that was only visionary a few days ago is now a certainty. Eastern capital is eager to erect it if the counties interested will back the enterprise. The people of San Mateo county and particularly the residents of Redwood City should leave nothing undone in assisting the big project which means so much to both.

A proporistion is on foot to have the travel from the bridge come through Redwood City. It is proposed that Redwood City purchase the Wahl block and remove it, thereby providing means for extending Broadway to connect with a road leading from the proposed bridge. Mrs. Pescia has agreed to give a right-of-way over the Sweeny ranch from the Bay road. This would bring all the travel from the San Joaquin valley through Redwood City and up the proposed new highway to the city. A new outlet to San Francisco would thus be presented state highway AT.. potoEp-o vided relieving the congestion on the present highway. Thousands would enjoy this scenic route around the bay. The promoters of the bridge would receive a handsome revenue on their investment in tolls received from motorists crossing to the other side of the bay. We cannot be too keenly alive to the advantages and enormous benefits of this bridge scheme. Let us pull together for it, a strong pull and a pull together will accomplish the object. With the buiding of the bridge the future of the peninsula will be assured.

REPUBLICAN RECORD FOR VETERAN RELIEF

The democrats of the Senate took great delight the other day in upbraiding the republican administration for what they contended was its failure to carry out the policies of the republican platform. Carefully collecting a list of everything that has not been accomplished in the 100 days the republican administration has been in control of the government, and omitting all refgrence to what has been done, the alleged shortcomings of the party in power were made to appear very serious. Stress was laid on the charge that the republicans have failed to do anything for the wounded soldiers. "The arrogance of laying claim to doing something toward bettering the conditions of the disabled soldiers of the country," exclaimed a violent democrat from Mississippi.

Just to remind the people what the republicans have accomplished along the lines of soldier relief alone, a few of the more prominent benefits are herewith enumerated:

Appropriated $18,600,000 for the construction of new fire-proof modern hospitals to take the place of the insanitary, one-story, paperboard fire traps in which thousands of helpless veterans were housed by the democrats.

Authorized the utilization by the Pubic Health Service for hospital purposes of scores of army buildings throughout the country not needed for military use.

Uncovered the most revolting conditions prevailing in the so-called "contract" hospitals established by the democrats, and in special tubercuiosis hospitals, that led to immediate improvement at those institutions.

Appropriated the Dawes soldier relief commission that in two days surveyed the whole soldier relief situation and submitted a plan of reform that has been incorporated in the veterans bill just passed by the House, combining under one head all soldier relief bureaus.

Put a man at the head of the War Risk Insurance Bureau who, in one month, took 10,000 pending cases and adjudicated them, thus bringing the work of the bureau up-to-date, a condition never reached in all its history under democratic control.

Framed a soldier bonus bill that will be introduced in Congress and considered in the very near future.

This is only part of the republican record on soldier relief. It not only sheds glory on the present administration, but shows up strongly the miserable treatment meted out to the veterans under democratic officials. Little wonder that the democrats make no specific allusions to what they failed to do and what the republicans have done. They content themselves with hurling invectives at their political opponents. The country will hear more of them as the weeks pass, but they are merely the despairing wails of a defeated and discredited party.

A NEW START

According to present plans, the government will charge about $2,500,000,000 of the cost of ship construction to war emergency and start in anew in a merchant marine program with ships capitalized at about $1,000,000,000. The total cost of ships constructed by or for the government since the outbreak of the war has been about $3,350,000,000 and it is estimated that the vessels and other property the Shipping Board has on hand are worth in the neighborhood of a billion dollars, or a little less. Approximately 70 per cent of the investment, therefore, is loss, due to the high costs of war construction, cost-plus contracting, and clacking by korkers in ship yards. While the loss of two and a half billion dollars is a big burden for the taxpayers, it may serve as an effective argument for the maintenance of a permanent merchant marine in the future.

INTRASTATE PHONES

Congressman Homer Hoch of Kansas was a member of the subcommittee of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the House that conducted hearings on the bill giving certain intrastate telephone companies the right to consolidate into an interstate company without violation of the Federal anti-trust laws. He materially aided in passing the measure through the House, effectively disposing of the argument advanced by its opponents that the legislation took away regulatory powers now possessby the States. Mr. Hoch declares that independent telephone companies, as well as the Bell company, favored the legislation. The bill is in the form of an amendment to the Transportation Act of 1920, and confers authority on the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant permission for mergers when it is found, after hearings, that it would be in the public interest to do so.

COME ON IN

Secretary of War Weeks declares that the citizens' military training camps are "a vital asset in the broad scheme of national defense." He has addressed a letter to the governors of all the States asking their co-operation in making the camps this summer a success. They are urged to bring the camps to the attention of local authorities, and tell of the benefits that the training provides. Secretary Weeks hopes to have 10,800 men enrolled in the camps, quotas being drawn from all the States. "It is my belief and my hope," says Mr. Weeks, "that these camps will develop closer national and social unity, will teach the privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship and will stimulate the interest of the youth of the country in the importance of military training."

PHIPPS ON THE JOB

Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Colorado was successfully in rushing necessary legislation through Congress for the relief of the flood sufferers in his State. Through his exertions and those of the other members of the Colorado delegation, the Senate and House gave prompt approval to a resolution authorizing and directing the Secretary of War to take all necessary sanitary measures, furnish needed subsistence and quartermaster supplies, and extend such other aid as might be required by the destitute sufferers from the Pueblo disaster. Senator Phipps was in frequent consultation with the President and Secretary of War during the trying days following the flood, and expedited materially the work of relief.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY

SERVICE

An excellent definition of service is that it is "a state of mind—a quality, not a thing." It embraces more than merely supplying a commodity at a given price. The commodity must be of the highest quality and be sold at the lowest price that skill, diligence and reasonable foresight can make possible. It must be delivered promptly and continuously on well understood conditions that apply without discrimination to all alike And added to this there must be an attitude of friendly helpfulness and willingness to serve on the part of the Company's whole organization and an alertness to effect improvements that will make the servfce more complete

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SUBMITS ORDINANCE REGULATING TRAFFIC

The board of supervisors met in regular adjourned session Tuesday, June 27, 1921, at 10 a. m.

The board took up the matter of the proposed ordinance, a draft of which had been submitted by District Attorney Swart, amending Ordinances Nos. 307 and 309, governing the weight of loads that might be carried over the highways of San Mateo county.

Attorney J. E. McCurdy of San Mateo addressed the board on the subject and stated that he had read the proposed ordinance and that it was entirely satisfactory to the people he represented, a number of farmers and truck drivers of the coastside.

Attorney J. J. Bullock of Redwood addressed the board on the question of having a separate ordinance providing for a license tax for the business of hauling on the highways of the county and he offered to submit to the district attorney and the supervisors a proposed ordinance for their consideration covering the matter. District Attorney Swart said he would be glad to have Mr. Bullock present such an ordinance.

District Attorney Swart in referring to the weight ordinance, said he believed a great deal of the trouble with regard to the destruction of the roads could be avoided if the State law regarding the speed of trucks on the highway was strictly enforced.

Supervisor Brown, in addressing the board on the proposed ordinance, said she didn't think more than 500 pounds to the inch of tire should be allowed on oiled roads, but that she would be willing to vote for 600 pounds on other roads.

Following further discussion the ordinance as submitted by the district attorney, was adopted, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Francis, roll call on the motion resulting as follows:

Ayes—Supervisors Hickey, Brown, MacBain, Francis and Thompson.

In explaining his vote on the proposition, Chairman Thompson said he believed the county should build roads for the farmers so they can get their products to market and not for scenic purposes.

The new ordinance, as adopted, limits the load allowed, including the weight of the vehicle itself, to 600 pounds upon any inch of width of tires, when such vehicle is equipped with tires made of other material than metal, and to 400 pounds to the inch when vehicle is equipped with tires made in whole or in part of metal. The width of the tire shall be determined by taking the measurement of the channel base of the wheel carrying such tire. Special provision is made in the ordinance limiting the total weight to nine tons of the Halfmoon Bay to San Mateo road, and seven tons on the La Honda-San Gregorio road. The limit of all other roads in the county is fixed at eight tons. Only one trailer is permitted, with a maximum weight allowance of six and one-half tons, and the trailer must "track."

A communication was received from Harold Casey, who resides on the Canyada road, west of Redwood City, in which he expressed his thanks and appreciation for the splendid work done by the Redwood City fire department during the recent big grass fire near the Scheiers sanitarium an dexpressly commending B. L. Werder of Redwood City who was in charge of the fire fighters.

The board took up at this time the matter of having a county fire warden to take charge of the district outside of incorporated towns.

B. L. Werder addressed the board in the matter, explaining the need of some one patrolling the roads and hills on Sundays and holidays and warning picnic and automobile parties against the dangers of setting fires where there is dry grass or brush. He also spoke of the need of proper equipment and organization and the method of paying men called upon to fight fires.

County Purchasing Agent E. L. Werder and District Attorney Swart also addressed the board in the above matter, the latter explaining that a law was passed at the last session of the legislature giving the boards of supervisors the power to set aside a certain sum of money each year to be used by the office of the district attorney in emergency cases. He said he didn't know if the law could be interpreted to include the taking care of fire cases.

After further discussion, the board on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, appointed B. L. Werder fire warden at a salary of $6 per diem for each day that he works, the appointment to start from June 28, 1921.

Werder addressed the board in the matter of a man who had had his hand injured in fighting the fire near the Scheier's sanitarium. The board felt that the county should take care of any medical expenses of the man in connection with the accident.

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

The big booster meeting held in Menlo Park on Tuesday evening last to organize the various chambers of commerce of the peninsula in an effort to secure concerted action towards securing better and cheaper transportation down the peninsula, to promote the construction of the Dumbarton bridge at Ravenswood and to urge the Southern Pacific company to electrify its tracks from San Francisco to San Jose was enthusiastic and well attended. All the speakers gave cheering news of the success of the efforts of the new organization.

J. H. Sullivan called the meeting to order and then relinquish the chair temporarily to P. R. Thompson, president of the Civic League of San Francisco who organized the chambers of commerce and then gave way to Mr. Sullivan.

The organization tentatively is composed of the presidents and secretaries of all the chambers of commerce of the peninsula and of the San Mateo county Federation of Women's Clubs. Philip Thompson of South San Francisco, who is president of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs of San Francisco, was made temporary chairman of the new league, and Daniel C. Imboden, manager of the Three Cities (San Mateo, Burlingame and Hillsporough) Chamber of Commerce, was appointed temporary secretary.

This organization will meet at the call of the temporary chairman in Redwood City next week, when the plans will be carried further.

At next week's meeting definite reports on the several specific objectives of the boosters are to be presented. F. H. Drake of San Carlos will report on the Dumbarton bridge project. George Peckham of San Mateo will report on the proposed electrification of the railroad. L. G. Hardy of South San Francisco will make the report on more highways for the peninsula. Frank Towne of Redwood City was appointed temporary chairman of the committee on ways and means. J. J. Sullivan of Menlo Park was appointed temporary chairman of the membership committee.

W. J. Martin of South San Francisco struck the proper keynote when he said the people of the peninsula should be up and doing and give their best efforts to promote the construction of the Dumbarton bridge for the building of the bridge across the bay at San Francisco to Oakland would mean practically the depopulation of the peninsula.

John MacBain and Thomas Hickey, members of the board of supervisors of San Mateo county, pledged themselves to give these projects their hearty support.

Frank Towne, president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce made a splendid talk showing the advantage of co-operation.

Enthusiasm for the three projects was general, according to the tenor of the many talks made, and the approbation of the audience expressed by frequent applause. That all the objectives are both necessary and feasible, and vital to the future wrowth and development of the peninsula were points on which common consent was reached. One speaker, professing to speak with authority, declared that in a year the Dumbarton bridge will be realized.

Ben Blow, director of the Bureau of Good Roads of the California State Automobile Association, pledged his organization to co-operate with the peninsula boosters in their improvement project. He called attention to the fact that the highway problem on the peninsula was one created not by local traffic but by the travel from elsewhere. "This," he said, "makes it a matter of State obligation, and help should be given. The building of a parallel highway down here should be in the hands of the State."

A. F. Lemberger, general manager of the Motor Car Dealers' Association, speaking in favor of all three objectives of the peninsula boosters, said that while the bridge across the bay was necessary, feasible and possible, and sure to come eventually, and that bridges both from Oakland to San Francisco, and from Oakland to Dumbarton would serve a useful purpose, the first thing to do was to build more peninsula highways. "It is inconceivable," he said, "that the condition can be allowed to continue, of having only one highway to serve as an outlet from San Francisco to the peninsula region."

He said, "Distance no longer is measured in miles, but in minutes. In 1906 the East-bay cities got the benefit of the- exodus from San Francisco because the East-bay cities had quicker transportation.

"Build your roads first, and have a head start over the bridge proposition. Roads are quicker and cheaper."

J. A. Owens, assistant city engineer of an Francisco, talked on bay bridge cost, and said that the costs today would be less than the estimates made a year ago would indicate.

Mrs. Elsie S. McGinn, speaking for the San Mateo County Federation of Women's Clubs, pledged the co operation of one thousand women in the movement to secure the Dumbarton bridge, electrified roads and more highways.

She was followed by Mrs. L. E. Woodard of the San Mateo Woman's Club, who read a resolution passed by her club on December 13, 1919, endorsing the Dumbarton bridge project. On motion, the meeting last night endorsed the same resolution upon conclusion of her reading.

Supervisor C. P. Cooley of Palo Alto declared the readiness of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors to co-operate with the northern peninsulans in working out an improved highway system for the whole region.

Embraced in the membership of the new league of boosting organizations are the chambers of commerce of South San Francisco, San Carlos, San Bruno, Three Cities (San Mateo, Burlingame and Hillsborough,) Redwood City, Menlo Park and Palo Alto.

On Tuesday the United States Government became owner of the property on which the base hospital is located. District Attorney Frank M. Silva, after passing favorably upon the title of the property, gave to the firm of Lyon and Hoag, who acted as agents for the owners, checks aggregating $124,00 in full payment for the land. Those who received the money were Ira Merrill, William Cooley and Mr. Hoag who owned the largest part of the land.

The Felton Estafe Company has sold to Mrs. Phyllis M. Merrill and Charles H. Merrill a strip of land containing ten acres on Encinal avenue and located at the rear of the Merrill home on Glenwood avenue. According to the federal stamps on the deed filed in the office of County Recorder, T. C. Rice, on Wednesday the sum of $10,000 was paid for the property. The sale was negotiated by Timothy Hopkins, one of the directors of the Felton Estate Company.

Following a long illness Charles Castoff Weeden, a pioneer of Menlo Park passed away on Sunday last at the age of 76 years. He was a native of Newport, Rhode Island. Mr. Weeden first came to Menlo Park in 1872 to work at his trade as a carpenter on the Latham building now owned by Timothy Hopkins. He returned to San Francisco for a shotr time but came back again to ply his trade on the Flood mansion. He has resided here ever since. For some years he was a prominent contractor in this section. Mr. Weeden's ancestors arrived in Rhode Island at an early date. He is a distant relative of Rodger Williams, the founder of Rhode Island. He was also a relative of Commodore Perry. Mr. Weeden was a skillful mechanic, a quick, active worker who had few equals in his day as an expert carpenter. His sons are also expert workmen and they too are engaged in the contracting and building business. Mr. Weeden was well-liked by all who knew him. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Daniel Driscoll and three sons, James E., Charles M., and W. H. Weeden and a sister, Mrs. L. P. Booz, all of Menlo Park. The funeral took place from the Church of the Nativity on Tuesday morning. The interment was in Holy Cross meetecry, Menlo Park.

Fred Woods, a former gateman here and at Atherton for the Southern Pacific Company, died suddenly in San Francisco on Thursday. He had resided there since leaving here several years ago. Thomas Cochrane, an old friend of the deceased, was called to the city to take charge of the remains.

Samuel M. Shortridge Jr., became a full fledged Native Son on Thursday evening, when he was initiated a member of the Menlo Parlor. After the ceremony and the completion of the routine business a banquet was given in the young man's honor in Native Sons' hall. About fifty Natives participated.

James Powers, son of Mrs. James Powers of this place, was married in Denver, Colorado, on June 15 to Miss Myra Brundage of that city. Mr. Powers served overseas during the war.

The Menlo Social Club will give a dance in Native Sons' hall this evening. An orchestra from San Francisco will furnish music. The dance is to continue until 3 o'clock. A number of young men and women of the city are to motor down from the city to enjoy the evening.

William Meyer, the proprietor of the Safety Electric Shop, is completing work of installing a 16-inch pilot house control, search light on the grounds of R. E. Mulcahy at Menlo Heights. The search light of 1000 watts strength will illuminate for many miles in all directions the beautiful landscape showing the matchless scenery of the locality by night at a high elevation. Mr. Meyer is an electrical engineer of ability.

Daniel Regan, a former old-time resident of Menlo Park, but now a resident of Fruitvale, visited friends here on Tuesday.

Fred Nessler of the Little Green Door has just received a large stock of fire works for the Fourth of July. The place will be the mecca for Young America for the next two weeks.

The local baseball team defeated the Native Sons' nine at the Community Center diamond last Sunday by a score of 13 to 3. The former team will meet the Mountain View nine on the latter's diamond tomorrow afternoon.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Creglow was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening when their niece, Miss Elsie Irene Patheran of San Francisco became the bride of Doctor Joseph Snow of Petaluma. The affair was attended only by immediate relatives and friends, Rev. Lynch of San Francisco officiating. Miss Gertrude Creglow played the wedding march and sang "I Love You Truly," Miss Elizabeth Creglow acted as brides maid and Mr. Jack Carlyle Creglow as best man. The young couple will reside at Petaluma where the groom enjoys a splendid practice. Mrs. Greglow is also a practicing physician.

The Seventh Avenue Riding School of San Francisco has opened its summer school in the Pioneer stables on Oak Grove avenue. The genial manager, P. J. Sullivan, has brought with him a string of gentle horses for his many patrons here. For a number of years the school has flourished, having for its patrons the children of the wealthy class hereabouts. Percy Davies is the new riding instructor this season.

The Boy Scouts bivouacked in the woods back of the Hindes place last Saturday night and in the morning breakfasted at the Hindes home. The embreyo soldiers had a delightful time.

The playgrounds of the Community Episcopal Center are almost completed much to the delight of the youngsters who enjoy the swings, bars seasaw and slides. A contemplated swimming pool will add to the pleasure of the place.
